STAMP IT OUT!

An official of the postoffice department has discovered that the Bolsheviks, I. W. W., and others are perfecting an organization to overthrow the government of the United States. This announcement does not come as a surprise to those who have watched the progress made by those with anarchistic tendencies. No sooner was the armistice signed than those who remained quiet under the lash of the espionage act and the watchful eyes of the pure Americans in each community became more bold. They at first felt out the situation to see how far they could go. As the patriotic people who had been on the alert to stamp under heel any propaganda detrimental to the interests of the country relaxed their vigilance they came out into the open and carried on their campaign of agitation.

The American people have been warned that it is the duty of each and every one to discourage any just made by these anarchists. It is just as necessary for us to protect our nation from a selfish, blood-letting band of unscrupulous Bolsheviks in this time of reconstruction as it was for us to stamp out pro-Germanism while our boys were fighting in the trenches.

These persons who are seeking to shape their plans to overthrow the government are purely selfish. They came here to live and are dissatisfied with their own governments. You will not find any pure Americans in that crowd. They have had more freedom than they have ever before experienced. They have more opportunities to improve their conditions than ever before. They have no right to come to this country and overturn the institutions for which our forefathers fought back in 1776, and again our boys upheld in the last war. Every American should constitute himself a vigilance committee of one, arm himself with the right which every son of our forefathers has, and when he hears the least breath of Bolshevism whispered, take immediate steps to nip it in the bud. If he is unable to handle the job alone, he can get plenty of help for the simple asking.

It is now on this country is going to be for Americans. That does not necessarily mean that we are going to bar for all time foreigners who are sincere in their desire to become citizens in fact as well as name. But we are going to insist that this country shall not be the dumping ground for the sons of Europe or any other continent. If those who come to our shores seeking the opportunities withheld from them in their native lands do not like the way we do things, they must get out.

MORE WASTE!
Announcement that the war department contemplates selling as junk the greater part of the aviation equipment, produced by this government at a cost of $1,072,000,000, has aroused the indignation of those who for the next 25 years will have to pay war bills.

The public is willing to shoulder the burden left by the war. No murmur of complaint will come from the true American. But to have an inefficient administration continue to waste money in such large quantities is outrageous.

With Wilson, Baker and Daniels in Europe, devoting their time to problems which are more important to Europe than their own country; with Wilson firmly set in his mind not to call a special session of congress so that some of the momentous problems which confront us could at least be considered, and the war department's announcement that it is going to sell a billion dollars worth of aviation material, the public has the right to demand a change in policy.

There seems to be no conception on the part of administration leaders for a plan for the future. They seem to believe that now the war is over—at least for a time—that we have nothing to do but sit back with folded hands or allow those who handle the affairs of government to spend their time in chasing around Europe, expounding theories or making investigations.

They should see that the machinery that will make possible successful reconstruction in the United States be set in motion first and then if they have any spare time, let them pursue their ideals. We perhaps could get along without them. They would require the hold on those who desire to accomplish something for this nation.

If the war department carries out the plan of junking aviation material, the United States will be taking a most disastrous backward step.

Great Britain has already taken advantage of the opportunities presented by the war in developing both military and commercial aviation and is planning to win supremacy of the air. The United States has spent over one billion dollars, and has not perfected an airplane with which the average aviator would trust his life and now the war department is willing to toss it all on the scrap-heap and quit.

The London government has sent air attaches to embassies at Rome, Paris and Washington. When the United States agreed to receive the British attaché, who has just arrived, Washington informed London that no American air attaché would be sent to England.

When the next congress meets, one of its first duties should be to map out a comprehensive air program which will develop both commercial and military aviation. It should be put under the supervision of a separate department created for it. Every dollar's worth of the aviation equipment that can be salvaged should be retained.

The least we can do is to keep pace with foreign governments that are developing their commercial opportunities.

FIRST STEPS TAKEN.
The first steps toward the building of apartments and remodeling residences for the accommodation of families that are coming to Janesville have been taken by local residents. Announcement has been made of the erection of other dwelling houses by private individuals, as well as by firms. These men should have a place upon the city's honor roll, for if there is one thing more than another needed in Janesville, it is comfortable dwellings which can be rented at reasonable figures.

The following is taken from "Contracting," a trade paper:

"The official removal of most restrictions on building construction and the storage of bituminous coal, together with the improvement of transportation conditions and the increased number of workmen released from government projects, augmented by the discharge of soldiers has opened wide the door for the resumption of construction activities. These should be immediately commenced and owners, contractors, and designers will do well to realize that the prices of material will remain high for a long time and that the demands bound to develop rapidly for enormous foreign construction in the devastated regions, will maintain costs far above normal for a long period."

"It is, therefore, folly to delay construction plans and operations; they should rather be modified to conform to existing conditions favoring the most abundant and easily secured materials and eliminating to the utmost hand labor. Such a policy supplemented by motor truck deliveries, simplified plans and co-operation in establishing clearing houses and zones for labor and materials should initiate abundant prosperity immediately, without waiting for the traditional spring openings."

The proposed highway bill before the legislature provides that roads be kept open in winter. This lends strength to the argument that concrete roads should be built wherever possible. With concrete roads and a system of maintenance in operation, such a situation as arose last winter in which lives were lost because physicians could not get to influenza sufferers, could not again confront us.

A bill has been passed in the lower house of the legislature providing that the board of regents of the university be composed of farmers, business men, representatives of labor and faculty members. Such a measure should be passed so that all classes will be represented on a body which has such great responsibilities.

One of the indications that the growth Janesville and community is undergoing is healthful is the large number of real estate transactions recorded in the last few weeks. When people back their convictions by buying property they are optimistic over the future.

A brakeman on a "jerkwater" railroad train in Iowa believes in democracy for all. When asked to reserve seats in a coach for Secretary Baker and Gen. March, the brakeman said they would have to take their chances with the "common herd."

George Croel, who has so successfully acted as Wilson's publicity agent in suppressing news of the peace conference, has declared he will retire to private life. This does not bring a cry of anguish from the reading public.

It has been stated that Beloit is going to attempt to stage a comeback on the booze question. Petitions have been circulated asking that saloons be allowed to operate.

Old John Barleycorn came back with a wallop in New England, when towns that had been dry voted for license.

FORTY YEARS AGO

The Janesville Daily Gazette, March 12, 1879.—Harmony—David Clark of Harmony met with an accident yesterday, while engaged in gubbling in some way the chain caught him as the horse started up, and he was given a tight squeeze, which affected his spine quite badly although no bones were broken. Today he was resting quite comfortably and it is thought that no serious results will ensue, although the nature of the case will mean great care of it.

Last evening, the members of Washington Engine Co. No. 1 held their annual election which resulted in the choice of the following officers: Foreman, J. F. Ehringer; Asst. Foreman, Will Brooks; Secretary, George Ehringer and Treasurer, Will F. Airis.

THE GENTLE GLORY.

There is in gentle ways and conduct true
More glory than in fortune's yellow gold.
That life which is in deeds of kindness told,
Outshines the splendor of the mighty few.
Who dare with might what right would scorn to do
And strive for joys which they alone may hold
An honest man is nobler than a bold,
Worth is in how an not what men purpouse.

He that would win men's love and earn their praise
Must scorn the sordid battlefields of greed,
Must find his joys in smoothing others' ways
And spend his substance for another's need.
No greater glory here can mortal find
Than to be mourned as one whose deeds were kind.

D. A. R. GIVES PLEASING MUSICAL PROGRAM

The members of the local chapter of the D. A. R. gave a delightful musical program yesterday afternoon at the library hall by Mrs. W. T. Sherer and Mrs. A. E. Magee, who had arranged a pleasing musical program. The members were allowed to bring a guest. Mrs. Sherer made the announcement of the numbers. The program was opened by the singing of America by the audience and the pledge given to the flag. Miss Clara Schwartz and Mrs. Jessie Nowlan gave a duet played on two pianos, entitled, "Dance of the Gnomes," which was a weird bit of harmonious melody.

Mrs. S. S. Richards gave two vocal numbers, "Her Eyes Twin Pools," by Burley and "Temple Bells," by Finland, the latter a duet of a male and female voice. "The Selfish Giant," by Oscar Wilde, was given an expulsive interpretation as a musical reading by Mrs. J. F. Pember, with vocal accompaniment of the piano, setting played by Mrs. J. L. Wilcox.

Mrs. Robert Bailey sang a "Lullaby," by Jocelyn with great delicacy of expression and sweetness of voice. A bird song, "The Wren" was sung with the clear bird like tones, of charming quality.

Miss Ruth Bingham, of Milton, played a waltz by Czarnowicki and a violin solo, which was most favored, and she was obliged to respond with another selection.

A concerto 2nd Movement by Mac Dowell played on the piano by Miss Dowell and Mrs. Wilcox was a sympathetic interpretation of the work of that famous composer. The program closed by the playing of an arrangement of the Star Spangled Banner by Hoffman as the violin solo by Miss Bingham.

A preliminary business meeting was held by the chapter, the vice president, Mrs. D. E. Parker, presiding and the secretary, Mrs. H. E. Bliss, reading the minutes. Announcement was made that the sum of $100 had been raised by the local chapter for the Red Cross and a rebuilding of Tillalois, France. It was stated was nearly enough for the erection of one cottage in the devastated village. Mrs. Parker also asked the members not to forget that the Red Cross had quantities of yarn which they were anxious to give out to knitters, for the making of children's stockings, scarfs, and other articles.

A committee consisting of Mrs. Sowle for Milton, Mrs. Fred Baker for Evansville, Mrs. Alwood for the west side of the river, and Mrs. Bliss for the east side was appointed to undertake the work. It was also announced that Miss Mabel Green, of Rock County, had written a number of other memoranda which needed to be copied, it so desired.

A committee consisting of Mrs. Magee, Mrs. Loomis and Mrs. Ray, was appointed to draft resolutions of condolences to send to the relatives of Mrs. P. C. Gardner of Plattville, who had recently died. Mrs. Gardner was a former member of the Janesville chapter of the D. A. R.

CARRIE JACOBS-BOND WRITES NATIONAL AIR

Carrie Jacobs-Bond, former Janesville girl, was recently awarded the national prize for a new hymn, "Perfect Day," which may perhaps become then ew national air. She was requested to write a peace version of her "Perfect Day," the song that was sung throughout the trenches in France. Inspired by the news that 24,000 persons sang her song in unison at Madison Square garden, New York, after the signing of the armistice, she composed the following stanza to the beloved air of "Perfect Day":

"They are coming home to the blare of bands.
To the shouts and songs and yearning hands.
And the hearts that are all aflame.
And we're waiting for those who with courage high
Went forth to the flaming fray:
When their ships come home how our hearts will cry.
Here's the end of a Perfect Day."

They're coming home, with the victor's won.
With the world made fairer and true,
And the lands that cringed with the tread of gun.
They've restored to their liberty.
And the ones who sleep 'neath a far-off sod
We will not forget—but pray
That you join them all at the throng of God.
At the end of some Perfect Day."

Lord Shaw said he was concerned as to the position and powers of the general body of delegates under the covenant. ## WHY TIRED PALE, RUN-DOWN WOMEN SHOULD TAKE NUXATED IRON

You can tell the women with plenty of iron in their blood—beautiful health, rosy cheeks, women full of life, energy and charm—while those who lack iron are often cross, nervous, weak, irritable, tired-out creatures whom nobody likes to have around.

In explaining why tired, pale, run-down women should take Nuxated Iron, Dr. J. C. Sullivan, formerly physician of Bellevue Hospital (Out-Department), New York, and now at the County Hospital, says: "Iron is absolutely necessary to enable the blood to change and into living tissue. Without iron, no matter what or how much you eat, your food merely passes through your body without doing you any good. Iron don't get the strength out of it, and as a consequence you become weak, pale and sickly looking. Your nerves get out of order and your whole system is impaired, leading, in some cases, to mental, physical, or nervous collapse."

"Nuxated Iron is a scientific and widely endorsed preparation of organic iron, and other tonic ingredients—enriches the blood, creates new blood cells, thereby strengthening the nerves, rebuilding the weakened tissues and helping to instill renewed energy and endurance into the system, whether the patient be young or old."

"For anemic women who would be stronger and more energetic, with steady nerves and rosy cheeks, Nuxated Iron is, in my opinion, the most valuable preparation any physician can recommend."

"FRIENDLY ENEMIES" SCORES BIG SUCCESS

A tightly woven web of laughs, cries, patriotic impulses, home ties, fighting on the fields of France and in the "friendly" arguments of the Pfeiffer home, made the presentation of "Friendly Enemies" at the Myers Theatre last night, a play of vim, joy and patriotic devotion, striking home even four months after the end of the war.

The pleasing intermingling of the clear-cut humor of the two fathers, interspersed with the pathos of the breaking of the home ties, kept the spectators in a series of honest laughter and tears. The fabric of the play was one of minute design.

Karl Pfeiffer, the German father, fittingly portrayed by Harry Mason, was the star attraction. His heated arguments with the real American father-of-German birth, played by Dave Lewis, carried well, not too sentimental, played by Raye Dean, as June Blok, and Walter Abel as William Pfeiffer, was presented in a custom, but gave way in importance to the parental love of the Pfeiffer family.

The mother, her husband's wife, after the old German school, was as appealing as Mr. Pfeiffer as presented by Felice Boros.

Mr. Pfeiffer, giving his all for his native land, easily falls into the trap of the German spy system. In this country, gives $50,000 to hasten the end of the war; goes on a rampage when his son is to sail for France. But his reclamation comes in a minute, he renounces Germany and its atrocities, and is converted into a strong American, when word comes that the transport on which his son is sailing has been sunk. His greatest ambition is to be the one to put an end to the life of the head of the German spy system, Walter Stuart, played by Louis Hartman, whom he and Henry Block, city corner and turn-over to the officials.

CALLING NAMES

"And you will—where do you long?"

"I am with you, Lucy!" Walt had said. "I'm a rebel!"

Walt watched Janet finish reading the letter. She continued to stare at it; but did not see it. He saw a glow in her face, but he did not see it. Putting his hand on her forehead he drew her face to his shoulder.

"Why, girl dear—"

She gently left his embrace. Carresses did not mean the solution to her problem.

On obeying the law of like to like—and she felt herself losing Walt.

"I don't see any other answer to this but 'Good luck to you dear!'" she said, waving with a hint of trepidation at her lips.

He kissed her for answer and held her long and tightly to him. But such was thinking of the same thing they kissed good-bye to Roy and Janet.

The conference with Roy Nicoll, white Walt went to give Lucy Benton in person his glad consent.

(To be continued.)

BY ELIZABETH THOMPSON
 ED TO MRS. THOMPSON, IN CARE OF THE GAZETTE

that it will kill him to have me go with any other boy, and my mother objects to it very much.

Do you think he asks so often to give him another chance?

ELLIE.
I believe that a girl is morally immoral when she enters into a second marriage. You do not love your fiancé and you should break your engagement, regardless of his broken-heart and your mother's regard for him.

Do you probably you do not care for the first man. His inference toward you made you want the thing you could not have and you were my daughter.

Do you let you go with him again, giving him to understand beforehand that if he broke a single engagement he would forfeit his right to be my friend?

ELLIE.
There is a great possibility that if you went with the first man again you would be disappointed in him and you would apply to me to find out whom you should engage. At any rate I believe you should experiment.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: When wearing a wedding ring and an engagement ring, which should be put on first?

ELLIE EYES.
The wedding ring should be on second. This arrangement results from convenience; the engagement ring is more often removed in order to protect the stone.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: We are young girls. We have boy friends whom we do not like very well. We do not like to turn them down. Do you think we should go with these boys or not?

You should not go riding with the boys. It is not advisable for young girls to ride with boys unless chaperoned. Besides this you should not go with boys unless you like them.

BY WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.

He had a further gain of three inches in stature and eleven pounds in weight.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Q.—SICKNESS OF THE GOAT.
Would be unwise for one subject, to recurring attacks of gout in one foot, to indulge in oranges, lemons and grapefruit, but I do not want to eat anything that I likely to aggravate the condition. (H. S.)

A.—ANSWER.—The citrus fruits contain citric acid. When in the system, it tends to diminish the acidity of the urine (are often prescribed for the purpose). It is not the alkalinity of the blood. I can imagine no reason why you should not eat any of the more acid fruits. Morphine and laxative, they should be helpful.

Q.—Fumes from Kerosene Heater.
Kindly inform me if the fumes or gases from a kerosene heater in a room are harmful. (L. F.)

A.—ANSWER.—A kerosene heater, produces a large amount of carbon dioxide gas, which is the same gas that is given off by the human body. It is just as necessary to carry away the products of combustion through flue or pipe to the outside as it is the waste from other fuel-burning heater. The incidents of odor or smoke are unimportant.

Some Barbershop Lore

I am troubled with boils on my neck, or rather sore on the back of my head. The barber tells me they are caused by wild or ingrowing hairs. Is not this true? Would it help in my case? (H. B.)

A.—ANSWER.—Probably not. The lesions are due to uncleanly handling and friction of the collar. The barber and his "ingrowing" hairs. The two things you should carefully avoid. Hairs never go wild or grow in—outside of second rate barber shops.

MEN'S HUNT

SEASONABLE PRESERVES.
Plumage and Prune Marmalade.
Wash one pound prunes, put into saucepan with cold water, and boil slowly until they will mash easily. Pass through coarse strainer or colander; return to saucepan and add one cup grated or chopped pineapple on top. Add one cup sugar and one teaspoon salt; boil slowly 40 minutes to one hour, stirring frequently. It must be thick enough to spread and not run off. If you have a chopper, can be used where one cannot get this fresh pineapple.

Apple Marmalade. Raisins.
Two cups seeded raisins, one cup brown sugar, one teaspoon salt, one cup water, one tablespoon lemon juice, two cups apple sauce. Put raisins in dry the raisins; put in saucepan with water and salt; boil slowly 30 minutes; add lemon juice and apple sauce, simmer 10 minutes.

or until thick. Put in Jelly glasses.
Raisin and Cranberry Marmalade.
 One quart cranberries, two cups (one cup sugar) seeded raisins, one cup orange juice, water. Put cranberries and water on in saucepan, cover and bring to a boil quickly; as soon as they begin to cook mash with a wooden potato masher and boil three minutes; mash through a strainer then add sugar and raisins, which have been washed, dried and pulped through a food chopper; return to fire and boil slowly 30 minutes, stirring quite often. This makes an excellent spread for bread.

MAKES LANDKRECHTS.
 When silk or crepe de chine waists become too worn for use cut through into handkerchiefs and you will find all ways be well supplied with precisely soft colored handkerchiefs which frequently match party frocks, etc. Usually if the waist is not in very poor condition, the back and sides of a new waist of three or four nice handkerchiefs can be made from one waist. This small stunt saves much money at the price good handkerchiefs are today.

DISCOVERIES.

To clean white or very light gloves, put the gloves on the hands, then take a soft white cloth, dip in sweet milk and rub on good white soap and wash the gloves being careful to wash the palms. Dip cloth in milk and or soap as often as necessary. Let gloves dry on the hands, which will take but a few minutes. Then rub with powder on any good white talcum powder and rub in. This will give the original gloss.

Shoes may be cleaned this way. It works and will not injure the leather.

Bad For Washing Hair

Most soaps and prepared shampoo contain too much alkali, which is very injurious, as it dries the scalp and makes the hair brittle.

The best thing to use is just plain multified coconut oil. For this is pure and entirely greaseless. It's very cheap, and beats the most expensive soaps or any thing else all to pieces. You can get this at any drug store, and a few ounces will last the whole family for months.

Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in, about a teaspoonful is all that is required. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, cleanses thoroughly, and rinses out easily. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and is soft and fresh looking, bright, fluffy, wavy and easy to handle. Besides, it loosens and takes out every particle of dust, dirt and dandruff.
